Do I have to vote?

You must vote in the state election if you are:

- 18 years old or older
- an Australian citizen.

A citizen is someone who has the rights and freedoms of the country where they live.

Before you can vote, you must enrol.

When you enrol, we put your name on a list of people who can vote.

This is called the electoral roll.

You can visit the Australian Electoral Commission website to:

- enrol to vote
- check your details on the electoral roll.

www.aec.gov.au/enrol

What is the state election?

The state election is how we choose the Queensland Government.

The Queensland Government runs things like:

- schools

- hospitals

- housing.

During the election, people on the Queensland electoral roll will vote to have their say on who should run Queensland.

How to vote

You need to fill out a ballot paper to vote.

A ballot paper is a form you fill out to show who you want to vote for.

It has a list of people you can vote for in the election.

We call these people candidates.

The ballot paper has empty boxes next to the names of the candidates.

You must put a number in all the boxes on your ballot paper.

Start by picking the candidate who is your first choice.

Put the number 1 in the empty box next to their name.

Then choose the candidate you want to vote for next.

Put the number 2 in the empty box next to their name.

Keep putting numbers in the boxes next to the other candidates.

You must fill out all the boxes.

Every box should have a different number in it.

When every box has a number in it, the ballot paper is finished.

Do not put any personal information on the ballot paper.

For example, your:

- name
- address.

Then put your ballot paper in the ballot box.

Different ways to vote

On the following pages, we explain different ways people can vote.

Vote in person

When you vote in person, staff will need to find your name on the electoral roll.

You can bring your voter information card with you to make this easy.

We will mail your voter information card to you before the election.

We will send it to the address we have for you on the electoral roll.

We will also email you a voter information card if you shared your email address on the electoral roll.

Accessible polling places and support

Accessible polling places

You can find out where accessible polling places are before you go to vote.

When something is accessible, it is easy to:

- find and use
- move around.

We say some polling places are ‘accessible’.

This means you can use a wheelchair or walking stick to get inside.

Some polling places have ‘assisted access’.

This means you might need some help to get inside with a wheelchair or walking stick.

Some polling places are ‘not accessible’.

This means you won’t be able to get inside with a wheelchair or walking stick.

You can find out about accessible polling places on our website.

www.ecq.qld.gov.au

Vote from your car

You can vote from your car if the polling place is not accessible to you.

There will be a sign in the car park at the polling place with the phone number to contact staff.

You can:

- call this number
- ask to vote from your car.

A staff member from the polling place will bring your ballot paper to you.

You can:

- fill it out
- put it in an envelope
- give it to a staff member.

We will take the envelope inside the polling place and put it in a ballot box for you.

You don't need to get out of the car.

Support from another person

You can ask someone to help you vote.

This could be:

- a friend
- a family member
- staff at the polling place.

They can help you by:

- reading the ballot paper to you

- filling out the ballot paper the way you want

- putting your ballot paper in the ballot box or envelope.

Vote at a declared institution

Some people can vote where they live.

They can do this if:

- they have high support needs
- they receive care where they live
- the place they live is a declared institution.

We decide if a place is a declared institution.

This means the people who live and get support there can vote at home.

These are usually aged care homes.

You can find out if you live at a declared institution on our website.

www.ecq.qld.gov.au

People can only vote at a declared institution if they:

- get care and support there
- need a lot of support.

Staff and visitors cannot vote at a declared institution.

We will visit the declared institutions before election day.

We will set up a place inside the declared institutions where you can vote.

If you can't leave your bed, we will come to you.

Information in other languages

We have information about voting in 25 languages.

The information is in a document called 'Multilingual guide to voting'.

You can find the document on our website.

www.ecq.qld.gov.au/voterhelp
